BROADWAY LIGHTS TO BE CURTAILED BY FUEL DICTATOR

Plan to Restrict Electric Signs in Coal-Saving Campaign Under Consideration.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The great "White Ways" of America's cities will soon be darkened. It is said an order will be issued next week by the Fuel Administration restricting all unnecessary outdoor lighting during the war to save fuel. Simultaneously appeal will be made to voluntarily curtail indoor lighting.

Under the Garfield plan, "white ways" will be allowed to continue only when absolutely necessary to street lighting.

The amount of coal "wasted" in electric advertising signs is estimated at 100,000 tons annually. According to P. H. Noyes, fuel conservation director under Garfield, the Fuel Administration will order this saving "for the psychological effect upon the public."

"Suppose there is a water shortage in a city," he said, "and the people are asked to conserve water. If they should see a public fountain wasting water the people would immediately feel that their efforts are not necessary if the fountain is permitted to continue in operation. We are going to ask the people to save coal. And if they see electric advertisements wasting the fuel they will not respond to our appeal."

Noyes stated that the Broadway Association of New York has agreed to eliminate all the signs on Broadway if necessary.

A voluntary fuel conservation campaign which will reach into every house in the country was launched today with this appeal from Noyes: "Coal supplies power for electricity and steam heat. Housekeepers should turn off both when you don't need them. If you can get wood use it instead of coal."

CARRY YOUR SUGAR HOME AT 91-2 CENTS TO-DAY

That Is for Loose—Package Granulated 10 if You Can Get It at All.

The price of sugar is scheduled to drop to-day, according to previous announcements by the Food Administration. Loose granulated should be 9½ cents at all stores on the "cash and carry" basis, and package granulated should be 10 cents.

BOY BURGLAR IS DEAD.

Two of Gang's Victims Still in Critical Condition.

Hugh Davis, one of the three burglars who shot Samuel Regensberg to death and wounded Harry Regensberg and the latter's wife at No. 626 Park Place, Brooklyn, is dead of the wounds he received in the fight with the police. Today the two other burglars, Leon Davis and Paul Chapman, the former charged with the Regensbergs, will be arraigned in the Gates Avenue Court. Harry Regensberg and his wife are still in a critical condition.

"I shall move for a speedy trial," said Attorney Lewis. The dead burglar was seventeen. His brother Leon is twenty-three and Chapman is sixteen.

According to Chapman, Hugh Davis overheard Harry Regensberg telephone his mother he had $100 for him and they "went after it." He said Hugh did the shooting.
